

John Keats

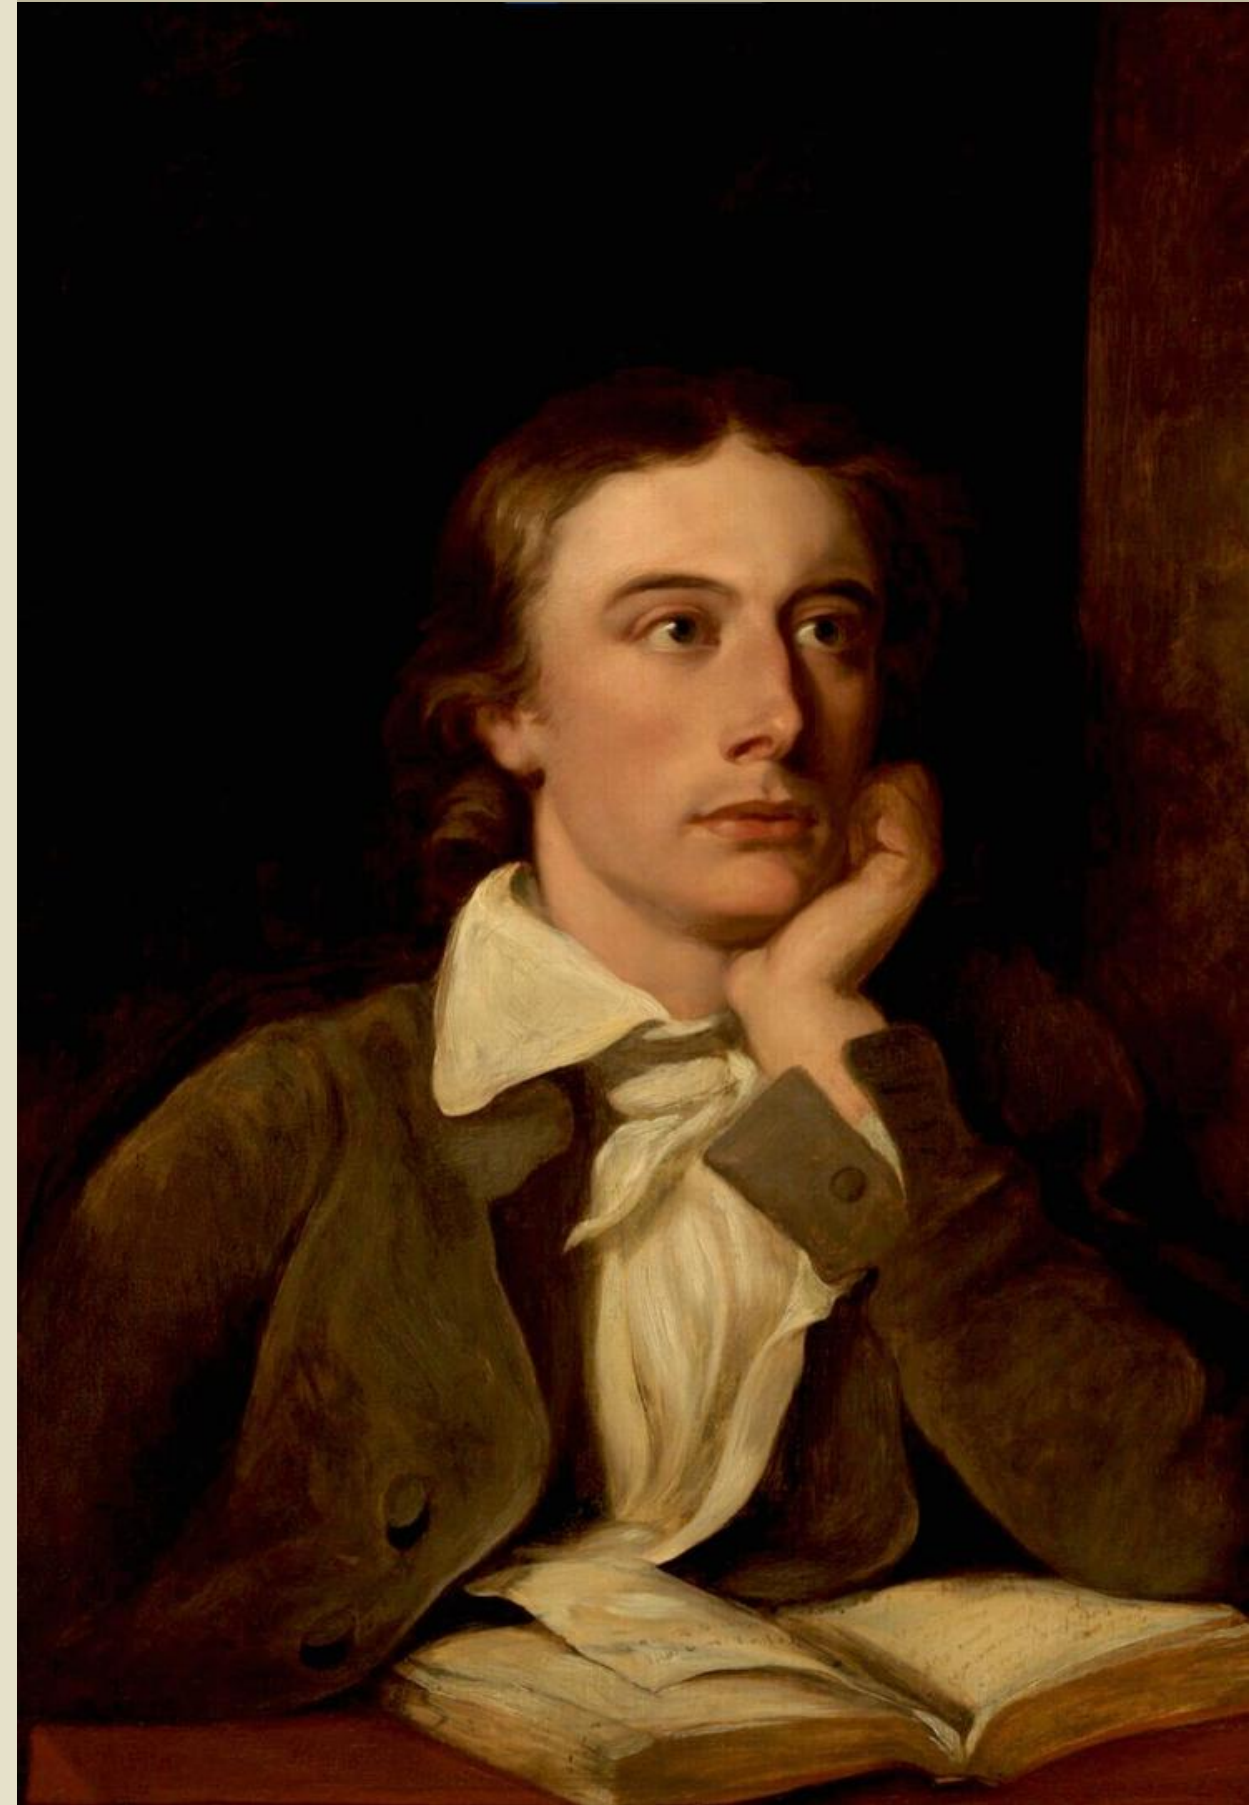

20250069 Kim Gyumin

“A thing of beauty is a joy for ever.”

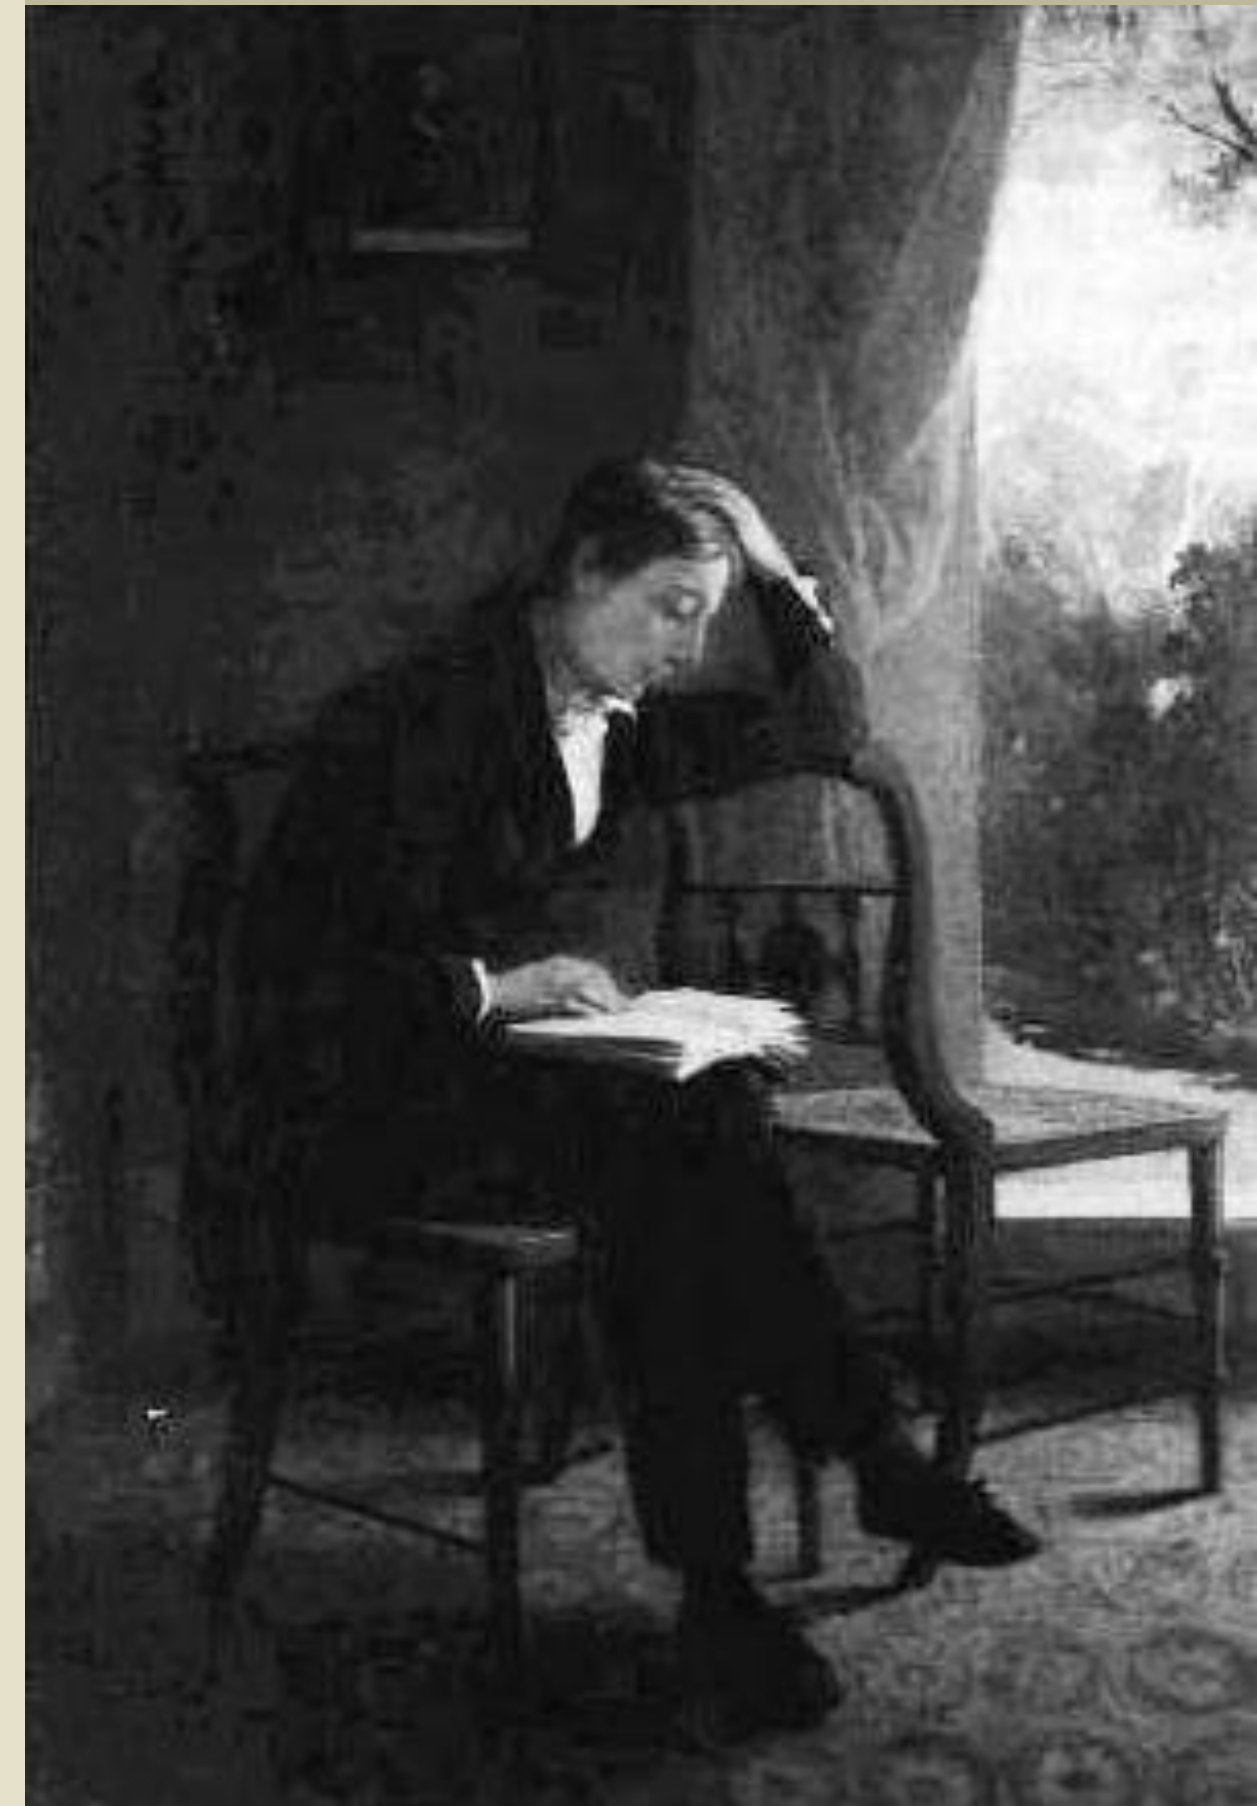

Who is John Keats

- A major figure of the Romantic movement
- He acted as a poet only five years
- He wrote poetry regarding aesthetics.

Early Life

- Born in London in 1795
- Grew up in a relatively poor stable-keeper's family
- He lost his father(accident) at eight and his mother at fourteen(tuberculosis)
- Educated at Clarke School » Free, modern learning » developed love for literature

Early Life

- Influenced by mentor Charles Coden Clarke » Encouraged reading and writing
- Forced into medical training by guardian » Apprenticed to Thomas Hammond
- Licensed as an apothecary in 1816
- A major decision: Medicine » Poetry

The Peak and the End

- 1819 was a period of miraculous creativity
- Deep attachment to Fanny Brawne
- Death of brother Tom and his own failing health with tuberculosis
- Final journey to Rome for health recovery

Critics' disapproval

- Brutal attacks from conservative critics
- Labeled as the “Cockney School” of poetry
- Dismissed for lack of classical education
- Resilience against hostile criticism

Main ideas of John Keats

1. The Pursuit of Beauty

- Proclaimed "Beauty is truth, truth beauty" as the ultimate reality.

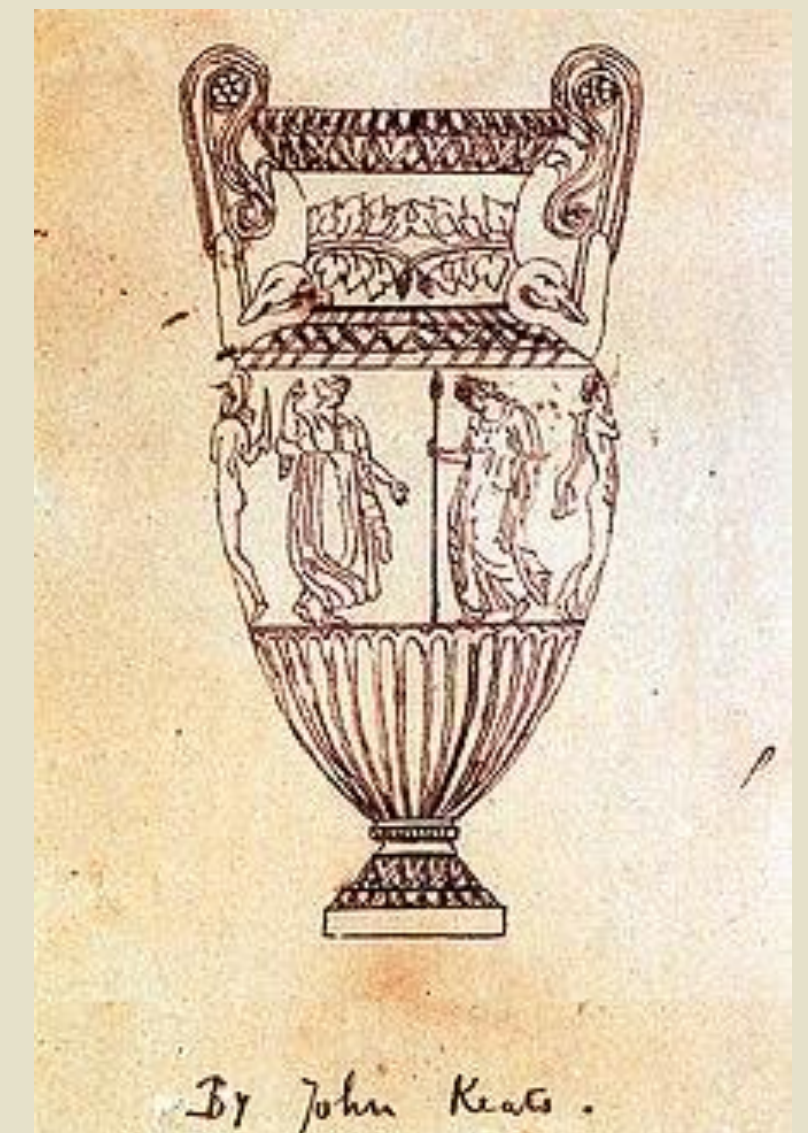

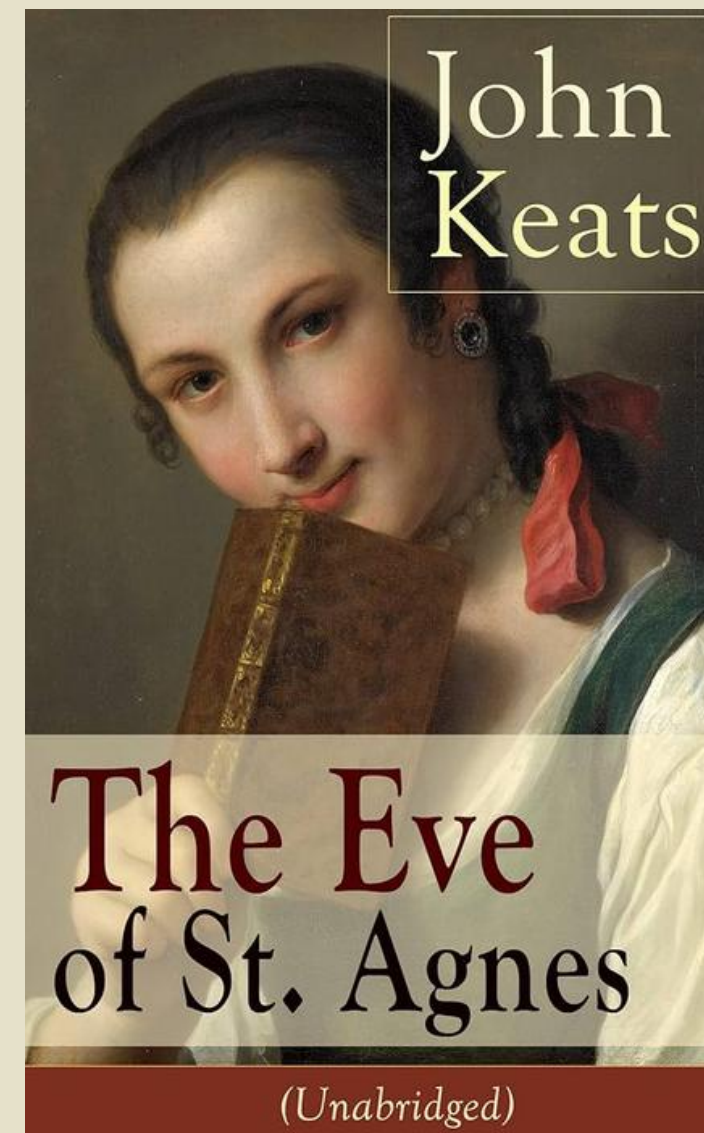

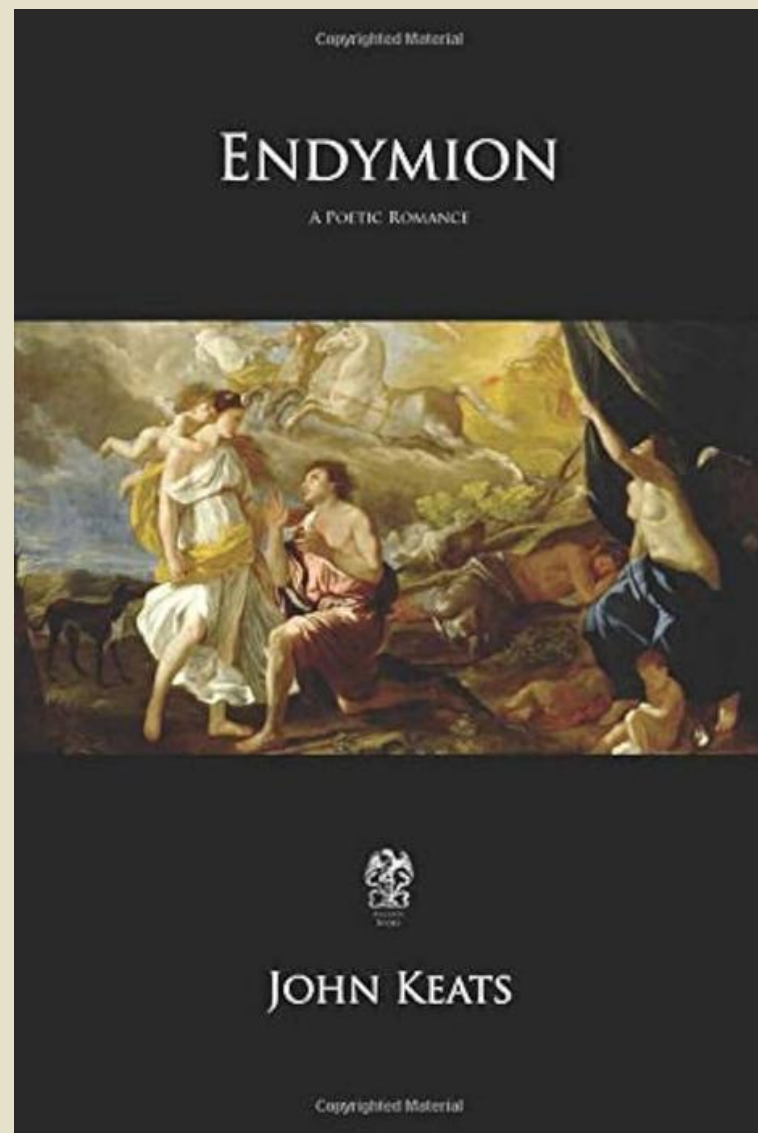

2. Negative Capability

- The ability to stay in uncertainties without reaching for reason.

3. The Vale of Soul-making

- Viewed the world as a place where the heart becomes a soul through pain.

Major Works

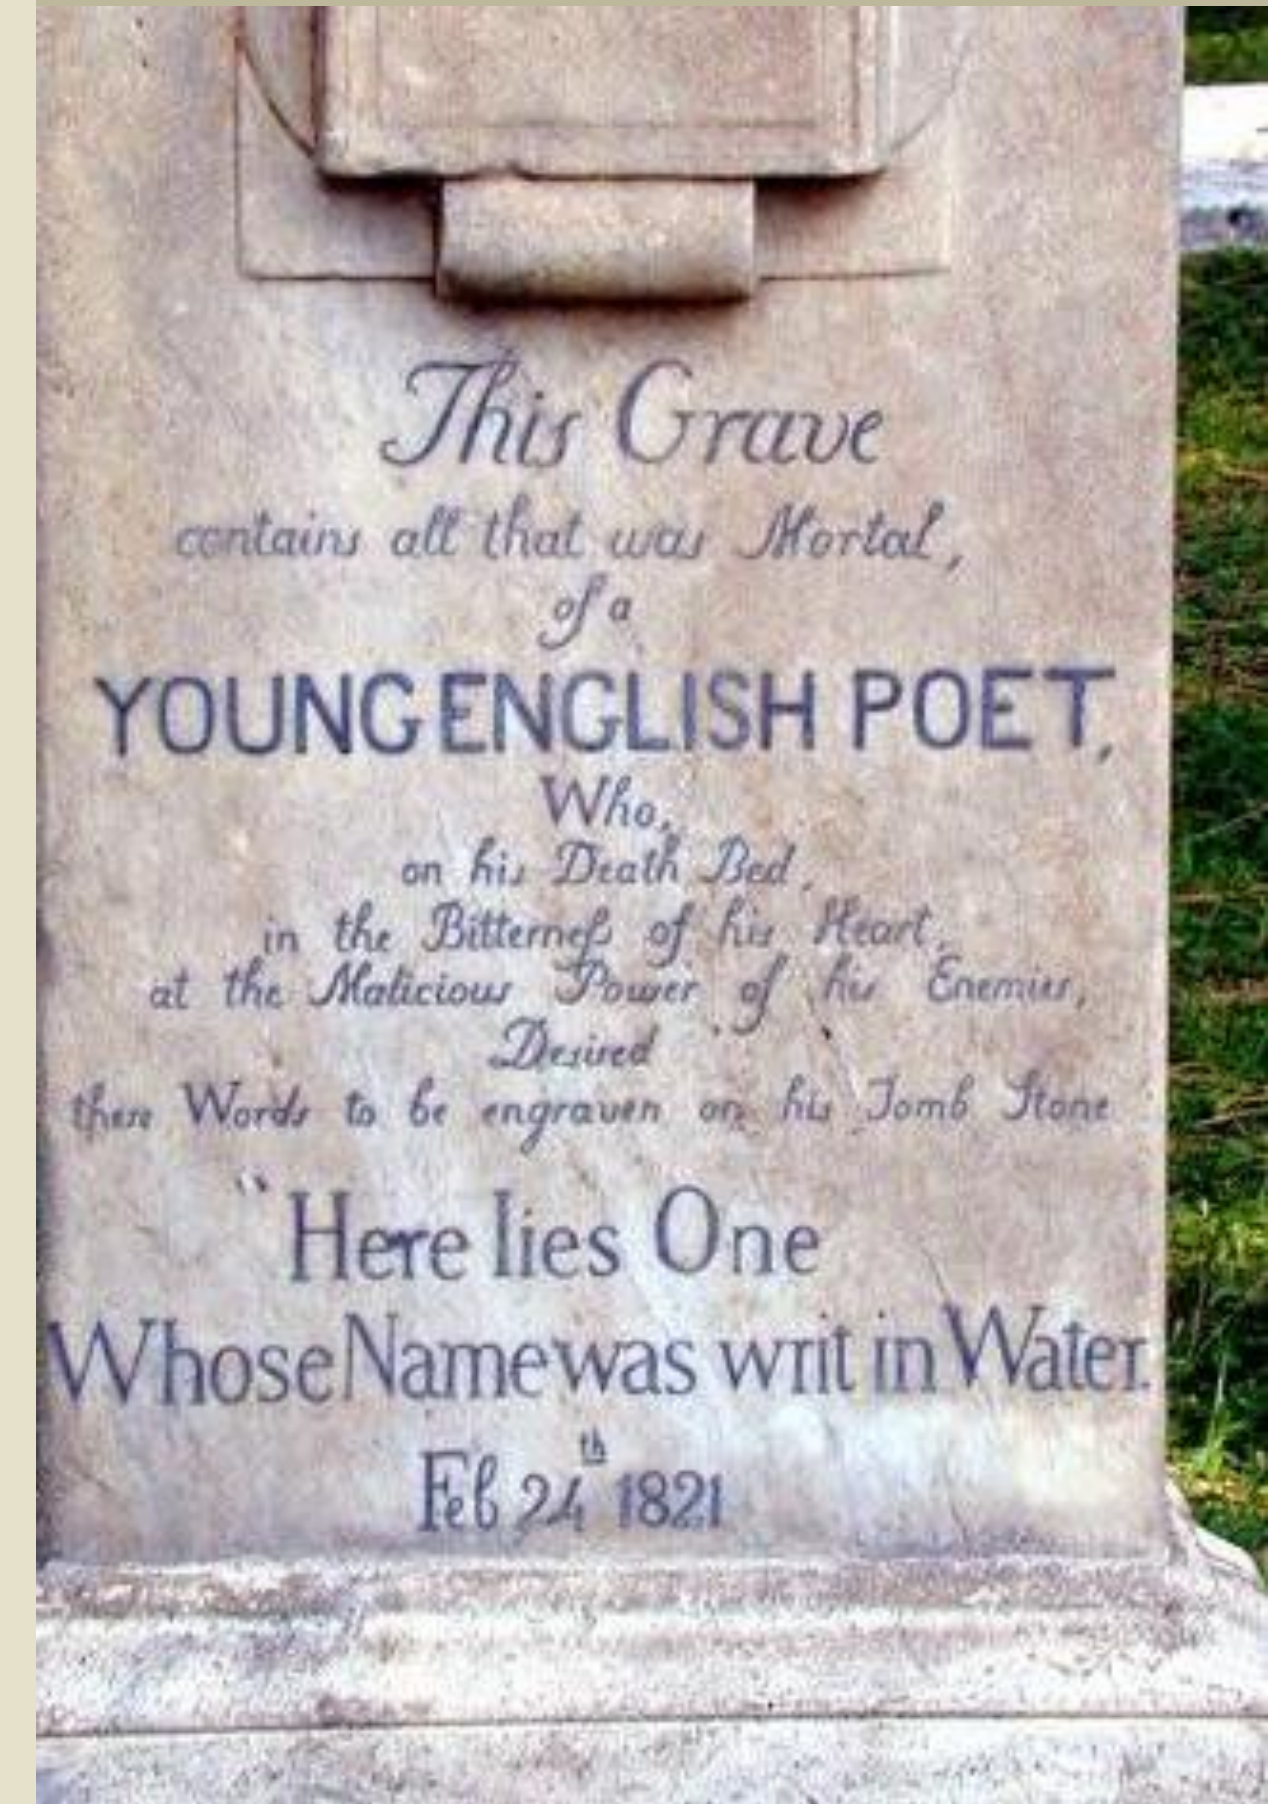

Keat's Importance

- Redefined the poet's role as a vessel for intensity and beauty
- Influenced the English aesthetic movement and future generations
- Represented a resilient creative spirit against harsh criticism
- Served as a bridge between Romanticism and modern aesthetic theories

Conclusion

- John Keats : “Here lies on whose name was writ in water.”
- Reflected his own sense of failure at the time of his death.
- But he achieved a level of fame that stands at the peak of English poetry

Reference

- <https://www.britannica.com/biography/John-Keats>
- <https://www.poetryfoundation.org/poets/john-keats>
- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/John_Keats
- <https://poets.org/poet/john-keats>

Thank you!